

Sharing Data Locally: Partnering with Neighborhood Organizations

Milwaukee, Wisconsin

DATA YOU CAN USE

FROM PEOPLE YOU CAN TRUST

Agenda

- ★ Welcome
- ★ Overview of Data You Can Use
- ★ Overview of Muskego Way
- ★ Importance of sharing data with residents
- ★ Conclusion

DATA YOU CAN USE

FROM PEOPLE YOU CAN TRUST

Data You Can Use

No data without stories, no stories without data

What we do

- Connect people who have data with people who need data
  - ◆ Health data Users Group
  - ◆ Housing data Users Group
  - ◆ Data Day
  - ◆ MKE Indicators
  - ◆ COVID-19 Data Chats and health conditions interactive map

DATA YOU CAN USE

FROM PEOPLE YOU CAN TRUST

Housing Data Users Group

- Collaborative effort to share housing survey data across neighborhoods
- Opportunity to explore trends and learn what data are available publicly

Data Day

- Encourage all data users-- from dataphobics to dataphyles-- to gather and make connections
- Data Dreams
- IGNITE sessions

Data Day 2020 Recovery Requires Data

MKE Indicators

- Population
- Equity and Access
- Market Value
- Health

Health Data Chats

Interactive Map

Overview of Muskego Way

Areas of focus

- Safe Neighborhoods
- Neighborhood Development
- Youth Education and Enrichment
- Healthy Families

Connecting residents with data in Muskego Way

- Translating critical resources
- Newsletters
- Workshops
- Community meetings
- Social media posts

Importance of community partnerships

- Trust
- Language
- Expertise

Discussion Questions

- How does your organization share data with the community?
- How does your organization process what is learned from the community?
- How has community work changed since COVID?

Thank You

★ Amy Rohan, Data & Research Analyst
Data You Can Use
amy@datayoucanuse.org

★ Edith Chavez, Community Organizer
Milwaukee Christian Center
echavez@mccwi.org

